Transcultural Online Counselling

Webinar Description: As counsellors we are using technology more and more as a way to help others without physical or geographical borders. This reality comes with huge potential as well as enormous challenges to keep our professional mindset intact while opening our minds to adapt to virtual realities and master the art of creating intimacy and connection through virtual spaces. To create a therapeutical online environment requires a considerable set of cultural, emotional and phenomenological abilities in order to make our work both therapeutical and have it accesible to all. This webinar – TRANSCULTURAL ONLINE COUNSELING – looks to reflect upon these matters as well as to develop tools to create virtual therapeutical spaces – facing the challenges with wisdom, humility and intentionality.

Desiree Carlson: Desiree Carlson is a psychotherapist with extensive professional experience. Desiree has developed and implemented a wide variety of therapeutic programs for youth, adults, men, women, singles, and couples.
